Description

Up for auction now is a copy of Chiki Chiki Boys for the Genesis!

port's auction terms: You must adhere to these terms. If you do not, I will have no choice to report you to eBay and leave negative feedback. I accept money orders only.

- All bidders must mail me with their contact info before bidding. I have had too many bidders in the past dumping out of my auctions, and for that reason, you must all give me your contact info before I will allow a bid to be placed.
 - If you bid before sending me your contact info, your bid will be canceled, and you must mail me that info to reinstate it. If you do win the auction after bidding without sending, I will charge a $5 non-compliance fee for not following my stated rules.
 - If you send your payment without sending me the $5 non-compliance fee, I will hold your money and item until you resend the $5 non-compliance fee, along with a $10 re-non-compliance fee.
 - If you do not resend the $15 non and re-non fees, you will forfeit your item and money, be reported to eBay for failure to adhere to auction terms. You can, however, donate $10 as a de-re-non-compliance fee to the charity of your choosing, with proof, and I will promptly remove the violation of the non and re-non fee issue and cancel any eBay charges against you.
 - If you send me false or incorrect info (i.e. Different from the info or address the payment was sent from), your item will then be held 4-6 weeks while I verify the correct information. Please be mindful of your info and sending info. I will take such changes as Dr. instead of Drive, and putting your apartment number on the same line as your street address, and then putting it on separate line on your envelope with the same scrutiny as listing your name as "Michael Spirko" and then listing it with your payment as "El Senor Del eBay Who Just Paido You With a Fake-o Money Order-o".

2. All bidders with zero feedback MUST send me a second mail (on top of the one listed above for everyone) stating the following:

"I promise to bid truthfully and honestly, and to honor the bid I made, no matter how highly the bidding was or how highly I regret it. If I fail to do so, I allow the seller to rightfully press legal charges against me and allow the seller to proceed with legal proceedings in a lawsuit to regain the high bid for this auction in the amount of 15 times the final bid, for business expenses and legal fees incurred by the proceeding".

- If you fail to do so, your bid will be canceled and you will be barred from any of my future auctions, and be promptly reported to eBay.

3. All bidders with feedback with any negative feedback, and a total unique feedback of under 1500, in proportion, must follow Rule #2 to the letter. To find out if you fall within this category, please use the following chart to determine your eligibility or ineligibility to this rule. Find your total unique feedback and see if you meet the range for eligibility for following rule 2:

Feedback ranging from 0 to 350: You must have no more than one negative to be exempt from Rule #2.

Feedback ranging from 351 to 900: You must have no more than two negatives to be exempt from Rule #2.

Feedback ranging from 901 to 1499: You must have no more than three negatives to be exempt from Rule #2.

This rule also applies to neutrals. If you have a integral value of less than 2, after plugging X (Your number of neutrals) and where Alpha is equal to the angle at which the sun is when you begin the equation, relative to the horizon, into this equation, you MUST follow Rule #2:

$$\frac{32 - x^2 + e^4 - 5x}{e^x - \sin(\cos(\text{Alpha})) + x!} = \text{from 0 to whatever X is.}$$

Also, if you can't figure out how to do this equation, you must pass a college level Calculus course, and send me proof before bidding.

If you have both neutrals AND negatives, and fall under that 1500 range, please consult Mallard's Matrix Accomplice textbook available from Delbarton Press to determine if you fall under Rule #2. Use your negatives number as the horizontal variable, and use the neutrals number as your vertical variable.

Warning! If you send this mail when you are NOT supposed to do (Do not meet the requirements for Rule #2), you will forfeit your bid, and the item if you win it, for violating eBay policy for spamming me. Please be sure to proof your work thoroughly before sending. A wrong answer costs me money, and waste both of our times!

Oh, and that's the 3rd edition of Mallard's, not the current 4th. There were some errors added to 4th, believe it or not.

4. After the auction ends, the winner must mail me immediately within 2 hours (no matter when the auctions ends) with the following information:

- Your contact info (again)
- Your eBay ID
- The item(s) you won
- The item number(s) for the auction(s) you won
- Your method of payment
- How many bids you placed, and their values
- Why you won this item
- What you intend to do with this item
- Your mother's maiden name
- Your social security number
- Your yearly earnings
- Your or your wife's bra size
- Your credit card balance
- Your measurements
- Your significant other's measurements
- Your preferred airline
- The make and model of all your cars
- And a picture of a guy holding a picture of Gary Coleman in a clown suit

Any missing information will result in a one week delay in a response. So make sure you figure out that you have sent what I need: I can't tell you! Failure to mail within 2 hours will mean negative feedback, a NPB warning, and an item relist.

5. Shipping for this item will be $15 for priority mail. If you do not like this price, please do not bid. I will only combine shipping if you happen to have a W in your last name, and even then, when I say "combine", I mean "multiply $15 times the amount of items you won, and subtract three fitty ($3.50)".

If you prefer insurance, that will $5 extra, but only because you're really gullible. If I forgot to actually do the insurance, you are eligible to -5% off the next auction of mine you win.

If you wish for another form of shipping, please explain to me in a 500 word essay why you feel it necessary. Shipping price, however, will stay the same regardless of option chosen.

I send items via the USPS, and I pay the post office guy some extra cash to smash your package with a hammer if you moan and whine about these auction terms or cause me any trouble, i.e. wandering out of these terms at any time. Oops. Did I say that out loud?

If you want delivery confirmation, here it is: It'll get there when it gets there, now back off!

6. Handling charges will be $5. If you wish to waive these charges, you may do so simply by asking. However, be forewarned that this $5 goes a long way in protecting your item from the hands of my 2 year old, who has been known to, and isn't this true for all those in the terrible 2's, take things given to him, and use them as the following: a toy, a toilet, or a piece of food. If you comfortable with this, feel free to ask for your handling fee to be waived.

7. I send items on every 2nd Tuesday and every 4th Thursday of every month, not including April and any other month that is spelled with 5 letters. If you miss these deadlines, your package will be sent until the next deadline. Please be ready to deal with this if you miss the deadline. Also, my birthday falls on the 2nd Tuesday in May, so be warned that it's my birthday, and I don't have to send if I don't want to. I'll think about. Sending me a birthday card, one preferably with Garfield would be nice, will speed things along.

Also, if the deadline day falls on a holiday, you will have to wait until the next cycle. Unless it's a Jewish holiday. I'm not Jewish, but I celebrate the holidays regardless. I will, though, make concessions for you. Be aware of this, and send an extra $2 for a Jewish holiday item mailing.

8. Local pickup is NOT an option, even if you live next door (and lord knows, I don't want those people anywhere near me!). I don't want your cooties in the same town as me. Ick!

9. No international bidders! No foreign currency! USA shipping ONLY! If you are an international bidder & win by accident a $100.00 handling fee will be added!

10. When sending payment, be sure to include a copy of every email sent regarding this auction, a printout of the auction page itself, a full printout of ALL your feedback, and list of all items you're bidding on for the past week. I will use this information to contact other sellers to see if you're paying them, and in turn, to see if you're going to pay me.

11. You must pay within 3 days. Be sure to send payment within in this range. If I do not receive within 3 days (that includes sundays, holidays, and any days where mail is not delivered), I will file a Non Paying Bidder warning against you and relist your item in 48 hours. You can make special arrangements, but don't count on it.

12. Return policy: If you find any fault with the item you receive, feel free to mail it back to me, with another $15 shipping, and $5 handling, as well as any fees incurred, and any and all documentation sent initially, and I will evaluate it to see what's wrong. Along with all this, please send a detailed report on what is wrong, why, how, when, and where. This report MUST be at least 6 pages in length, single spaced, Times New Roman font, 10 sized. It must follow IMB writing standards PERFECTLY, or no refund or replacement will even be considered.

13. Feedback: I will leave feedback for you, once you've left feedback for me. I will not leave feedback until I have my feedback, and can belittle you for being an idiot, even if you've followed all my terms to the letter. Oops! There I go again, thinking out loud. When will I ever learn?

If you don't like these terms, DO NOT BID!

Thanks, and have a great day!
