The characters and story in this book are fictional. Any resemblance to persons living or dead is purely coincidental.

On June the 8th, 1984, Colonel Crackov, the KGB’s most powerful commander, went missing, presumed dead, under mysterious circumstances. The loss was a tragic one for the USSR who mourned the loss of one of its most loyal servants.

In the following years, the USA and the USSR forged together a new era of peace and detente which brought the prospect of a world without conflict and a world without fear tantalizingly close.

All these hopes have now been dashed...

American and Soviet aircraft flying together on a peace mission. Colonel Crackov’s plan is to bring back the old days of tension and conflict... He MUST be stopped!
Colonel Crackov did not die that fateful day in June. Instead he went into hiding. Disgusted by his masters attempts to find peace with the West, he stole away in the middle of the night, faking his death and vowing to revenge the betrayal.

In the years from his disappearance he has built a massive private army equipped with weaponry stolen from both NATO and the Warsaw Pact and manned by a strong and fiercely loyal platoon of fellow communists who want to see their ideology returned and spread throughout the world. Now Colonel Crackov and his World Terrorist Army are ready to make their move.

In the next few weeks history will record that Colonel Crackov and the WTA have invaded Leamingtonia and now plan to spread throughout the Soviet Republic and beyond...

You are Yuri Nuriyev, KGB captain and Mig 29 Fulcrum pilot. You must fly in a new Security Force set up after the invasion by countries from the West and the East. Your task is a difficult one. In a world comfortable with peace you must combat the WTA. Only one outcome will satisfy the world - the defeat of Colonel Crackov and a return to harmony.

Good luck comrade!

Below: an example of the extent of Crackov’s weaponry, with the help of stolen plans, we were able to put together this artist’s impression of a deadly cruise missile under development by the WTA.
GETTING STARTED...

When starting the game you will see an options screen asking you whether you wish to play a one player or two player share game (see p.7) and also which control mode you prefer (see facing page). Once you have chosen, select 'START GAME' to begin.

The battle against Crackov will take place over several specialized missions. In order to complete the different missions you will have to fly your MiG through several different combat scenarios.

There are two main types of flying that you will need to do, these are, Air Combat, and Close Combat (ground attack) - the controls for these are listed on the facing page, along with the controls for other sections.

Scores for player one and player two

Two player share mode allows you to compete with another player for points. The game begins with four lives, but when one player dies, the other carries on where the other left off. In this mode, the panel varies slightly, showing two scores in the score area, P1 and P2 (player one and two). To show whose turn it is, the player indicators will flash next to the players score.

-Player One will always go first.

WEAPONRY

Weapons are displayed on the left side of the panel. Only one is given to start with but at the end of each mission an extra weapon is awarded for your success. The SELECT or B buttons swap between the weapons shown. With each plane lost you will also lose a weapon, unless you only have the first weapon.

When your Mig is in close combat your missiles will automatically hit any land or sea-based targets as well as enemy aircraft.

DOUBLE MISSILE: Although a basic weapon, it has a concentrated stream making it an excellent choice for hardened targets.

SPIRAL MISSILE: When fired, these missiles will spiral toward their targets making enemy helicopters less of a problem.

CLUSTER SPREAD: A triple firing weapon spreading in three directions, most effective against ground targets.

OPTIMUM: A good all-rounder especially useful against mixed enemy formations, a deadly combination of the other three weapons.

Using spiral missiles against ground targets
AIR COMBAT

Your first mission is a fairly straightforward one... To hunt down and destroy a stolen soviet bomber. This mission will take place in air combat mode. Most of the aircraft you will be up against will be armed with basic guided missiles, though some will fire heat seekers at you—these can be out-manoeuvred until they explode.

Crackov has hundreds of fighter planes, all of which are aiming to blow you out of the sky. Learn their squadron patterns—this will enable you to pick them off as they approach. Watch out for planes that swoop overhead from behind, these will crash into you and lose you a life if you don't keep low.

In later missions you will have to over-fly tanks and rocket launchers that will fire at you from below, so be alert for these and ready to react when they fire—heat-seekers will become more accurate the further you progress.

RE-FUELLING

With all its weapons, your Mig will not be able to fly a complete mission on one tank of fuel. To refuel, you will have to rendezvous with a tanker plane above the clouds. Once the tanker’s hose is lowered, you must line your plane up so that the hose meets it. After a split second the hose will lock and begin refuelling your aircraft.

If you are successful, you will be given a bonus for any time remaining and an extra weapon. If you fail to refuel and the time runs out, your plane will run dry and you will crash and lose a life.
INTERCEPTING & LANDING

ENEMY OVERHEAD means that one of Crackov's bombers (the stolen one in mission one) is above the clouds and in range of your aircraft. These must be intercepted and destroyed. Bombers will fire at you with their tail gun, some will fire missiles.

To destroy these large aircraft you must stay close to them and shoot at the fuselage. If you drop down, you will not be able to hit the bomber, though this will be necessary at times to avoid heavy fire. Once the bomber is destroyed, you will be awarded an extra life and returned to Air Combat mode.

When the mission has ended you will have to land your Mig at an airfield, some of these are makeshift runways, small and surrounded by trees. Landing on these can be difficult. If you succeed you will receive an extra weapon and a hits bonus... If you fail you will lose a life and begin the next mission, unless that was your last life!
CLOSE COMBAT

Some of the most difficult parts of your missions will be the close combat situations, these are where you really get caught up in the action, you'll have to dodge some very accurate Homing Missiles, Tank shells and artillery shells. You'll be closing in on Crackov all the time so there will swarms of aircraft to deal with too. You'll also have to overcome some fiercely defended large ground targets, some of these will need more than one pass to destroy. Your Mig will loop over these targets so you can have a second or even a third attack run!(see pictures)

Ultra close combat sections will call for you to fly dangerously low to intercept low flying targets. A special sight will appear ahead of your Mig, in which you must keep the target long enough for you missiles to get a fix.

The fate of future peace lies in your hands!
TIPS & TACTICS

CLOSE COMBAT SECTIONS
Concentrate your fire on ground enemies (as opposed to planes) as their fire is more deadly. Some planes need many hits to kill them - use the Double Missile to kill them as it is more concentrated.

RE-FUELING
Stay still - don’t chase the hose, wait for it to come to you.

BIG BOMBERS
Go to the sides of the screen to draw their fire and then come in when they are undefended.

INVINCIBILITY
After you have been killed you are invincible for a few seconds - use this time to blast the enemy!

LANDING
Stay high and dive down quickly when you are over the runway. You will survive all but the bumpiest landings, so long as you are on the runway.

SPECIAL HIDDEN FEATURES
Hidden in the game are a whole host of secret power-ups and a few other secret features, such as a night time mode - you might come across these accidentally or you could try finding some! They are activated in various different ways, or holding down certain key combinations at a particular time. Others are activated by entering special codes into the high scores table...
